Utah watercolor show is at Snow College

Watercolor enthusiasts should definitely visit the Lucy Phillips Library at Snow College in the next couple of weeks. From now through November 4th, selections from the Utah Watercolor Society's Annual Juried Exhibition will be on display at the library.

This exhibit includes paintings representing 20 Utah artists, covering a variety of approaches to the watercolor medium.

The exhibit includes everything from the fresh, spontaneous and transparent images usually associated with watercolor to controlled images that have been created through carefully overlaid washes.

Artists selected for exhibition include: Orel Alfred, IF Ann Anderson, Don Albay, Emerette Alant, C.H. Bradford, Susan G. Burgener, Betsy Campbell, Nancy S. Crockett, Marian Dune, Glen Edwards, Norma Forsberg, Thomas A. Leek, Ann T. Maak, Craig Mathews, Dottie Miles, Carolyn Ostler, Carl Purcell, Mary Lou Romney, Nola de-Jong-Sullivan, Joyce Tophan.

The Utah Arts Council's Traveling Exhibition Program provides schools, museums and galleries throughout the state with a variety of exhibitions. For information on the program, contact the Visual Arts Program of the Utah Arts Council at 633-5737.

USE YOUR TUDOR TO GET A NEW TWO-DOOR.

NO FEE HOME EQUITY CREDIT LINES STARTING AT JUST 1% OVER PRIME.

The great thing about a home equity line is, you don't have to explain how you're going to use it. Need a new car? Fine. A cherry red Ferrari? Even better. The point is, it's a great way to borrow money. For starters, only a home equity line lets you deduct interest payments from your taxes. ¹ Likewise, you can enjoy low rates as well. Especially at Zions Bank, where interest rates start as low as 1% over prime.²

Worried about fees? Forget about them. At Zions Bank there are no fees. Even our normal maintenance charge of $30 has been waived until January 1993. So, take a minute and think of all the things you could buy with a home equity line. Then come in and apply.
